SNAP THEATRE COMPANY

brings you a choice of two storytelling projects that will inspire children to tell stories and write using their creativity and imagination...

THE MAGIC OF STORYTELLING

Under the direction of international theatre director Andy Graham, children participate in a 30 minute workshop which looks at the themes in the following stories and then hear the dramatic stories from around the world in one special performance. (40 minutes)

- Me and the Gorilla - the story of boy from a war-torn African village rescued by a gorilla
- Me and You - the story of two children living on either side of the wall that divides their city who find everlasting friendship
- Me and the Orange Rock - an aboriginal girl, about to make history in the greatest race of her life, remembers her home and where she has come from

After the performance the children return to the classroom to start writing their own stories inspired by the workshop and performance.

The best stories can be entered into a national competition.

Suitable for 7-11 year olds

Up to 100 in each workshop and performance

Cost £250 (plus travel)

Touring September, October and November 2013
